

Stater To Offer Cryptocurrencies

9 January 2018 – Stater Global Markets is planning to launch an institutional calibre cryptocurrency.

Ramy Soliman, CEO, Stater Global Markets comments, “Cryptocurrencies are in high demand, fuelled by the huge interest in Bitcoin and other digital currencies. We have been speaking to a number of cryptocurrency providers over the last few months and have created a robust plan to service clients wishing to maximise opportunities from the increasing demand for digital currencies.

“Our cryptocurrency will address a number of issues that institutional clients currently face. In particular, it provides a scalable solution for those wishing to trade (or offer to their clients) institutional size digital currencies.”

This latest update from Stater is just one of a number of key developments to be announced in 2018.
